

Conference Announcement and Call for Presentations / Papers

The German Aviation Research Society (GARS) in collaboration with the European Aviation Conference Institute and the University of Applied Sciences Heilbronn are pleased to invite academics, aviation practitioners, policy makers and other stakeholders to submit contributions for the

3rd Aviation Management and Economics Conference (AMEC)

29th November 2022, Heilbronn, Germany

AMEC serves as a platform for diverse, high quality research in air transport economics, transportation management and fields related fields in the context of aviation. AMEC builds on the ATARD network and tries to encourage research in air transport and regional development. AMEC closely cooperates with the European Aviation Conference (EAC)<sup>1</sup>. Participation in AMEC is open to all researchers and practitioners.

As AMEC closely aligns the theme and scope with the European Aviation Conference (EAC), AMEC features two separate submissions streams. The first general stream is open for all aviation management / economics topics, including, but not limited to:

- The impact of air transport on regional development
- Air transport and tourism
- Aviation impacts on climate change, noise and local air quality and suitable policy instruments to limit the impact of aviation
- Economic regulation of value chain elements of aviation (e.g. airports, air traffic management)

The second stream is dedicated to contributions related to Covid-19 impacts on the aviation system:

- How have the events of the past three years impacted the aviation industry?
- How should governments rethink their aviation policy in a post-crisis world?
- Should airports be allowed to recover financial losses of the pandemic?
- Airports - capacity, charges, competition, regulation after pandemic
- Air Traffic Control - An enabler for recovery?
- Has the pandemic accelerated or slowed down the way to a sustainable aviation system?

With this stream, AMEC is linked to this year's topic of the European Aviation Conference. Papers of EAC and AMEC 2021 will be published in a special issue of the Journal of Air Transport Management (JATM) and the organizers plan to invite papers from the Covid-19 session stream of AMEC 2022 for a special journal issue of JATM again.

<sup>1</sup> The EAC 2022 themed "Recovery and Reform in Aviation – Impact of Covid-19 on Aviation's Structure, Regulation and Ownership", will be held on 30th November & 1st December 2022, also in Heilbronn, Germany.

Important information for Abstracts and Papers

All contributions will be subject to double blind peer-review. Upon invitation, full papers of the general stream will be considered for publication in the Journal of Air Transport Studies (JATS). Past papers presented at AMEC had also been published in the Journal of Air Transport Management, which is planned for this year's Covid-19 stream of AMEC.

At least one author must register for the Conference as the paper presenter.

For both submission streams, the structured abstract should include the following:

- purpose of the research (20-40 words)
- research design, methodology or approach (35-70 words)
- (expected) research findings (35-70 words)
- originality/contribution of your research paper (35-70 words)
- most important references (2-5 references).
